ongoing West Asia conflict and its implications for markets, underscoring how seasoned investors are reading through the noise in a volatile environment.

The competitive spirit of the day found its true expression in the winners who stood out across categories. C.V. Subramanian, Consultant, Shipping and Logistics, clinched the IOCL Straightest Drive award on Hole 11 with a near-perfect 1-inch deviation, while Hole 6 witnessed Tejaswi Sabharwal, Director, Reversi Management Solutions, deliver a fine display of precision to win the Closest to Pin at 7 feet 3 inches.

Among the main prizes, Malvika Viren Miskita, Associate at MT Miskita & Co, emerged as the winner in the women's category with 33 points, and in the men's 0-14 handicap category, Harmeet Sahney, MD, Avendus Wealth Management, secured top honours with an impressive 36 points—capping off a day where skill, composure, and consistency defined the leaderboard.

The lights may have dimmed on this memorable season, but there was a shared sense that it was less a conclusion than a pause. This wasn't just the end of a season, but a celebration of everything BT Golf has come to represent—the competition, the camaraderie, the conversations that go beyond the course and while the greens may rest for now, the spirit of the game carries on.

See you in the next season! BT
