

EXITS AT SWIGGY

Online food delivery and quick commerce platform Swiggy's leadership churn collides with mounting strategic concerns. Co-founder Nandan Reddy has exited, leaving Sriharsha Majety as the sole remaining founder, even as the board sees fresh elevations. The bigger worry lies in execution because of stiff competition in quick commerce. JM Financial has downgraded the stock and flagged Instamart's "structural deadlock," warning that the current approach could erode shareholder value and even push the company towards irrelevance without a reset.

COST OF LIVING CRISIS

Seeking higher minimum wages and better working conditions, workers across industrial belts in Haryana and Noida have been agitating in recent days. Several incidents of violence and vandalism have been reported. Trade unions have poured in their support, noting that these are not isolated events and are based on long-pending demands. While state governments in Haryana and Uttar Pradesh have hiked minimum wages and promised better conditions at work, there is no denying a cost of living crisis.

CONFLICT CONTINUES

The battle within Tata Trusts, which is chaired by Noel Tata, shows no signs of abating. The fight has now moved to the status of lifetime trustees after a recent amendment to the law in Maharashtra capped the number of such trustees at 25%. At some Tata trusts lifetime trustees account for 50% of the board. All eyes are now on holding company Tata Sons' board meeting in June, which will discuss critical issues, including the renewal of Chairman N. Chandrasekaran's term. What transpires between now at the board meeting is anybody's guess. This story is a long way from getting done.
