

growth. If it can do that, revenue growth, of course, will be faster, as will earnings. All this can unlock a huge amount of value.

16 | Similarly, another listed business of ours is Godrej Properties. It has been one of the fastest-growing businesses in the group and in the sector. Over the last three years, we have consistently been the largest residential developer in the country, with growth that has been well distributed.

Today, Godrej Properties is the number one or two listed player in all five largest real estate markets. Despite being a leader in the sector, our market share in that business is only about 5%. We believe there's a tremendous opportunity to continue to benefit from the consolidation in the real estate sector. We are hoping to double our market share over the next five to seven years in Godrej Properties.

“There is an opportunity and a requirement for India to look at becoming more self-sufficient in key inputs. We’ve seen global disruptions many times in the last few years”

Speaking of the agri business (Godrej Agrovet), there has not been much value creation in the stock market in recent years. We’re very committed to turning that around. It’s almost a mini conglomerate of its own with several different verticals under it. Some of those are already leaders in the categories they operate in, with a bright future, like the oil palm businesses.

Q: Tell us about the unlisted businesses.

A: Financial services is just five years old. It is the youngest business in our group with an AUM (assets under management) over ₹25,000 crore. The aspiration is to take it from that to roughly an AUM of ₹1 lakh crore over the next five years. At that point, we think it will be a very good candidate to be publicly listed. I think over a period of time, this can be one of, if not our largest business.

Q: In the age of start-ups across India and the world, very few groups survive even five decades. How would you describe this moment in terms of challenges and opportunities?

A: If you look at it in a narrow way, you can always focus on the challenges. I think there are lots of opportunities, for example, for ease of doing business to be better.

I have spent a lot of my career in the real estate sector. Things like ease of doing business, creating an environment attracting institutional foreign capital, are all important drivers of the economic
