FORTY SEVEN TIMES HIGHER GROWTH
IN 2006 COMPARED TO 2001

RECORD OF INVESTMENT PROPOSALS

THE RATE OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT IN CHHATTISGARH is higher than the national average. It is a matter of pride that Chhattisgarh has emerged as the first state in the country in 2006 as far as receiving investment proposals is concerned. According to a document released by the Industries Ministry, Government of India, investment proposals for Chhattisgarh worth Rs 107,899 crore were received during this period. According to the document Karnataka holds the second position in this regard while Orissa got third, Gujarat fourth and Andhra Pradesh fifth position. The Central Government's report testifies to the fact that Chhattisgarh has become the most preferred investment destination in the country.

To establish industrial zones in the state and meet growing demand for land, new industrial zones and appropriate infrastructure are being developed. Extensive industrial zones are being developed in four districts, while in three more districts industrial areas are being set up. To build small-scale industries land has been earmarked in five districts.

For the first time in the country's history the National Mineral Development Corporation (NMDC) has formed a joint venture with the Chhattisgarh Mineral Development Corporation (CMDC) to meet the requirement of steel sponge iron units which continues to get a smooth and steady supply of high quality iron ore for a long time. These efforts have also paved the way for regional development. All formalities of Dalli-Rajhara-Jagdalpur Railway Project have been completed.
