

"LET PEOPLE COME TO SEE ZEENAT'S TITS." Raj Kapoor on his film Satyam...

Zeenat Aman bared all in Raj Kapoor's X-rated Satyam Shivam Sundaram. While the film may not have made a dent in the box office, Kapoor had an acute sense of the tastes of his film-viewing public when he said, "Let people come to see Zeenat's tits, they will go out remembering the film." Aman had decided to win the role for herself. She arrived at Kapoor's doorstep to claim the part. The girl he had in mind had to be plain-looking and willing to be made up to look scarred and burnt. Aman was attractive, no great shakes as an actress and spoke Hindi with an accent. However, she had herself made up to look scarred, dressed in a costume from the film and burst into Kapoor's cottage. Flabbergasted, Kapoor called his wife, "Come and see what this girl has done." Mrs Kapoor arrived with a gold coin to bless Aman, and Kapoor knew he had found his heroine.

Captain M.M. Chopra father of Sanjay and Geeta Chopra, who were slain in September

"These days no mother and father feel secure about their children. It is mine today; tomorrow it can be another's."

- Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, prime minister of Pakistan, was sentenced to death by hanging.
- The Camp David Accords were signed between Menachem Begin of Israel and Anwar Sadat of Egypt. Later in the year, the two were also jointly awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for their breakthrough.
- The Spanish Constitution was approved in a referendum. In 1977, Spain held its first democratic elections since the death of dictator Francisco Franco.

PHOTO LAB, USIS

Winning India

US President Jimmy Carter arrived on a 48-hour state visit to India. Carter's mother, Lillian, was an Indophile, having spent time in Vikhroli in Maharashtra as a Peace Corps volunteer. After his visit, a village, Carterpuri, was named after him in Haryana.

800

was Delhi's crime rate, or number of crimes per lakh of population. In comparison, Mumbai's crime rate was only 550 while Chennai's stood at 600. This, despite Delhi having the highest concentration of police in the country with 25 policemen per 100 sq km of area.