

THE BIG CHICKEN

A COOK'S NIGHTMARE

Any chicken, older than 6 weeks, can turn your dream dish into a chewy, tasteless fare. Which is why, when you're buying chicken the next time, insist on the whole bird, not one that has been cut up to reduce the size (dressed weight ideally between 900 and 1100 gms). They are easy to cook as the bird is younger, tender and has less fibre. They are small in size but definitely big on taste. So when it comes to chicken, remember, to get more, buy small.
