UNEASY TRUCE: Jawaharlal Nehru with Liaquat Ali Khan on his right

India and Pakistan signed the Karachi Agreement establishing a ceasefire line to be supervised by UN observers. It was suggested that the Kashmir issue be solved through arbitration.

EXIT, SOUZA

Artist and founder of the Progressive Artists movement F.N. Souza (third from left) left India in July after the police raided his studio in search of obscene paintings. He lived in London where his art was exhibited all over Europe and bought by galleries like the Tate. He moved to New York in the '60s, but never returned to India.

EXIT, FRANCE

The people of Chandernagore, a French Indian settlement, decided by plebiscite in favour of merging with India. The territory was transferred a year later.

FIRST CUT

• Muthamma Chohivia Beliappa became the first woman to clear the Indian Administrative Service examination and join the Indian Foreign Service.

- The Cinematographic Act, 1949, created two categories of censorship certificates: 'A' for adults and 'U' for universal exhibition.
- China came to share border with India after its occupation of Tibet.

<< DID YOU KNOW

Nehru and Patel had a major disagreement over who should become the first President of India. Nehru wanted Governor-General C. Rajagopalachari but Patel preferred Rajendra Prasad.
