

STRAINS SHOW

◀◀ REWIND

END OF MONARCHY: Jawaharlal Nehru with the Nizam of Hyderabad

Courtesy Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

Nearly a year after Potti Sriramulu died while fasting for the creation of Andhra Pradesh, the state came into existence. The inauguration at the capital Kurnool was attended by C. Rajagopalachari and Jawaharlal Nehru—the two people who opposed the creation of the state in the first place. T. Prakasam became the first chief minister and Kurnool remained the capital until November 1, 1956 when it shifted to Hyderabad. It was the creation of this southern state that spurred the movement for the reorganisation of states.

“HOW I WISHED I HAD MADE IT...”

That's what Raj Kapoor said on watching Bimal Roy's Do Bigha Zameen, which won a special mention at Cannes and the Social Progress Award at Karlovy Vary. The deeply neo-realist film of a poor farmer during the Bengal famine had Balraj Sahni playing rickshaw-puller, who worked day and night to pay off a loan. Roy created unforgettable scenes in this film—a memorable one being that of a rickshaw race. While preparing for the role, Sahni pulled rickshaws barefoot through the streets of Calcutta for a fortnight.

FIRST CUT

- Sangeet Natak Akademi was opened for the survey of and research into the different art forms of the country.
- Archbishop Valerian Gracias of Bombay was made the first Indian cardinal.
- Marathi film Shyamchi Aai (right) won the first best feature film award after the National Film Awards were instituted.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR

Vijayalakshmi Pandit became the first woman and first Asian to be elected President of the United Nations General Assembly.