

Nose Dive

Indira Gandhi broke her nose when irate people threw stones at her during an election rally near Bhubaneswar, Orissa, in 1967. Hurt by the injury, she jokingly wrote to her friend Dorothy Norman: "Ever since plastic surgery was heard of, I have been wanting to get something done to my nose...I thought the only way it could be done without the usual hoo-ha was first to have some slight accident which would enable me to have it put right."

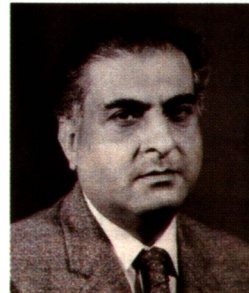

● Israel launched a pre-emptive strike against the three Arab states in 1967. Israeli forces captured the Sinai Peninsula, Gaza Strip, West Bank of the Jordan River, Old City of Jerusalem, and the Golan Heights.

● In the United States, the first space deaths occurred on Apollo 1

PANDIT AND POLYMATH P.N. Haksar

He was the man responsible for giving an ideological tint to Indira Gandhi's political struggle for autonomy. An Indian Foreign Service officer, he was deputy high commissioner in London when the prime minister asked him to join her secretariat. He became the first of the all-powerful PM's men, along with diplomat T.N. Kaul, economist P.N. Dhar, politician D.P. Dhar and security analyst R.N. Kao—they were collectively known as the Panch Pandava. As Katherine Frank wrote in her biography, "from 1967 to 1973, he was probably the most influential person in the government". Backed by his socialist agenda, she was able to distance herself from the Syndicate by taking the moral high ground.

when command pilot "Gus" Grissom, senior pilot Ed White, and pilot Roger Chaffee died in a fire during a ground test.

● The US signed a space treaty with Russia. More than 60 nations signed a treaty banning the orbiting of nuclear weapons.

Neville Maxwell in his series of articles India's Disintegrating Democracy

"The great experiment of developing India within a democratic framework has failed."

MERA BHARAT MANOJ

The Bharat image was successfully carved on celluloid when Manoj Kumar starred in the desh ki dharti film Upkaar. Kumar began a career of playing Mr Bharat roles while Pran, the great villain, finally let go of his evil ways, playing the crippled soldier Malang Baba. The movie celebrated Shastri's jai jawan, jai kisan rhetoric. The film was a huge hit and made Kumar the authority on Bollywood patriotism.

25

years passed since the Quit India Movement.

30

Indians in Venezuela died from a measles epidemic that hit Yanomani villages at least one year before researchers administered the Edmonston B vaccine.