■ IPDC

INTERNATIONAL POLYTECHNIC DEVELOPMENT COLLEGE came into existence as the first project of the society to realize some of the objectives, to begin with the college aims to prepare a new generation of professionals in the field of education and allied disciplines. The thrust areas of various programmes of the college is to harness the dormant potential of trainees by splitting the course modules into smaller closes in an ascending order of training hierarchy and equip them with enough life skills and techniques of trades and professions. IPDC bridges the gap between employment and employability by providing short and long term professional courses relevant to the demand of the job market. They also impart training in the professional courses with human touch by including short modules of social sciences. The college provides library services to the students through a library having course books and reference books of all the technical and non technical subjects. According to Mr. Manoj Kumar, Chairman, IPDC, achieving good performance is a journey, not a destination. Further he says, "Your dreams contain the power to transform mediocrity into magnificence. Like Columbus, trainees, you can discover the new world and can reach the Of the World.
