RELATIVE RETURN

Making a colourful comeback later this year is veteran actor Tanuja (far left). And with her will be two new faces—Kumar Mangat's daughter Amita Pathak and Shekhar Suman's son Adhyan. It seems to have taken some coaxing from son-in-law Ajay Devgan (Mangat is his former secretary) to get Tanuja to play a vivacious 'aunty' in Mangat's Haal-e-Dil. While Mangat's office denies Devgan's intervention, we are tempted to believe Tanuja was being her natural self, an obliging mother-in-law.

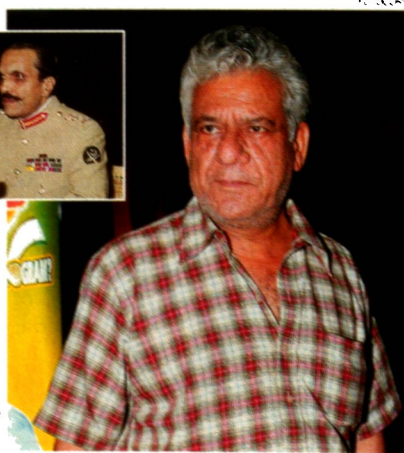

LEAGUE OF HIS OWN

There is an Indian connection to the English Premier League season that will be recorded for posterity—Michael Chopra scored his first goal for Sunderland against Tottenham Hotspur. Born to an English mother and Indian father, Chopra, transferred from Newcastle United for £5 million, is the first with Indian parentage to score a goal in the football league. Chopra, who has worn the England international colours in all age groups from U15 to U21, missed the call for the senior line-up. Will the 23-year-old be lucky this time?

Om Zia Om

He reluctantly agreed to a two-scene cameo as Pakistani dictator Zia-ul-Haq (inset) in Mike Nichols' Charlie Wilson's War, starring Tom Hanks, because Nichols wanted "Om and nobody else". Om Puri, who is in talks to play Sheikh Mujibur Rahman in another biopic, fitted into Zia's gelled-hair makeup and khaki regalia, with valuable insights from Zia's buddy Shatrughan Sinha. "He told me about Zia's gold tooth and how he laughed heartily," says Puri. Never underestimate Bollywood's diplomatic connections.

Second Coming

Krantiveer is back. The Nana Patekar-Dimple Kapadia blockbuster is returning to the silver screen with a sequel. While Patekar will not be part of the venture, the nature of Kapadia's role is tightly under wraps. Mehul Kumar, responsible for making the first film, is confident the sequel will be successful. "It will begin where the original finished. It will be a youthful film that sends out a patriotic message without being didactic," he says. All this in one film?
