

GAANY KI BAAT - GAANY KE SATH

The true strength of Rajasthan lies in its villages. Recognizing this reality, the Government of Rajasthan under the leadership of Chief Minister Shri Bhajanlal Sharma launched Gram Vikas Chaupal, a unique public outreach initiative aimed at establishing direct communication between the government and rural citizens.

The initiative was designed to bridge the gap between policymakers and villagers by creating a two-way communication channel. Instead of waiting for grievances to travel through administrative layers, the Chief Minister personally visited villages, interacted with residents, listened to their concerns, and reviewed development works on the ground. The objective was simple yet transformative: ensuring that governance reaches the doorstep of every citizen.

Chief Minister's Direct Dialogue With Villagers

The initiative demonstrated that effective governance is not merely about policy formulation; it is equally about understanding ground realities and responding to them promptly. Dedicated dialogue sessions were organized with women, farmers, youth, livestock rearers, and frontline workers. Discussions focused on agriculture, employment opportunities, women's empowerment, animal husbandry, water conservation, sanitation, and rural infrastructure. Beneficiaries also shared their experiences.

Leadership That Stays Close To The People
