

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF ADVERTISING (NIA)

The Media of Adverstising

NAMRTA SURI
Director, NIA

THE TRIANGLE FORMED BY THE CLIENT, THE Advertising Agency and The Media is the simplified way of looking at the basic equations in the Marketing Communications Business. The 'Advertising' Agency structure has got more and more complex to include continuously evolving 'Events, Public Relations, Direct Marketing and allied Businesses.' Students invariably seek a career in 'Media'.

Last week I talked about the 'Media and Mass Communication' industry, a basic introduction, and here is the other part of Media- the Media Planning, Buying, Operations or Sales part of the Marketing Communications business that constitutes the 'Business' side of the industry.

The Advertising Agency has evolved into separate 'Media Buying' and 'Creative' companies.

Media Planning- The fine art that is almost a Science:

The ads that you see sometimes on one channel or the other, in a particular program and not on the other and the way some newspapers or magazines seem to carry all the popular ads is the result of careful planning and strategy. This strategy is based on extensive research applying various scientific tools. A media planner is one of the most educated people in the agency and does a job, which is the backbone of the business. It is a job of great responsibility and precision. A lot of money is usually spent as the result of this planning.

Media Buying & Operations:

The backbone of the agency, this department handles negotiations and the eventual release in the planned media. The agency media buyer is well versed with all kind of prevalent rates, industry trends, has good negotiating skills and is over all well versed within the industry. The operations people usually handle releases, approvals, checking and verifications and sometimes billings. It is a deadline driven business.

Media Sales:

Also known as Space or Time sellers, these professionals are directly or indirectly employed by the Media houses to promote their business among clients and agencies. This particular job is the revenue earner for the media so there is a greater emphasis on performance. However it is a rewarding career as there is always an opportunity to out perform others and to achieve better targets. Some of the most successful and valued employees of a media might be from the advertisement or 'Response' department.

For your queries on a career in Communications please write to nsuri@vsnl.com

KIET

Bridging the Skill Gap

REAR ADMIRAL (Dr) AJAY SHARMA, DIRECTOR GENERAL - KGI & CHAIRMAN - Gopala Educare (P) Ltd., while speaking on the future trends of education says that at Krishna Group of Institutions they have in all sincerity taken up the task of "Bridging the Skill Gap" for the nation which will soon see that the demand for education will far outstrip the supply.

"With the growing middle class in our country in tandem with the economic growth, in not too far a future two thirds of our population will be middle class and they will be the ones who'd spend maximum on the education of their children. As a nation we should gear up to meet this demand", adds Rear Admiral (Dr) Ajay Sharma. While emphasizing on the need for more new institutions to come up, he feels that the existing ones will have to increase their capacity and at the same time raise the standard of education keeping in mind the skills required. According to him the year 2007 will mark a key inflection point in job creation in India. '1.9 Million jobs will be created, which is a record since independence' - he quotes India Today Issue of May 7, 2007. India of 21st century is still experiencing shortage of jobs and talent at the same time as graduates coming out of education system lack the required skills.

"The KRISHNA GROUP is alive to the need of the future and has in all sincerity taken up the task of "Bridging the Skill Gap" and affirms that they would rise to the occasion" he says.

