full-time post-graduate programme of Delhi University that focuses on international management studies.

Also on the anvil is an extensive research centre that will exclusively look at research in the field of business, an independent management centre, an upgraded post-graduate programme and a possible introduction of PhD level programmes in the field of commerce and economics, as suggested by the President of India.

SRCC recently received Rs 50 lakh from the Government as part of a Rs 1-crore grant set aside for its heritage status. With this, a new girls' hostel will be built as girls make up 60 per cent of the student body. The funds will also be utilised for earthquake proofing and overall infranational standards. The existing pool will be modified as an indoor pool along with a cafeteria.

A number of colleges affiliated to Delhi University offer undergraduate programmes in commerce and economics and are neck-and-neck when it comes to performance. However, srcc's advantage, explains Jain, is that it can afford to focus all its resources and faculty on one area of specialisation, thereby nurturing it as a core strength.

There are differentiating factors as well. No other college has nine sections of commerce. In no other college is the same subject taught by as many as four teachers. Because of this, there is a sense of internal competition that keeps the teachers on their

For Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Chennai, Bangalore and Hyderabad, the rankings are based on perceptual and factual scores. For Ahmedabad, Cochin, Chandigarh, Jaipur, Lucknow and Pune, the rankings are based on perceptual scores only.

Areas is one of them and seeks to change the face of villages. The pilot project launched in Daudpur village of Punjab gives the flavour of things to come. At the other end of the spectrum are programmes like the Global Business Operations that was kicked off in October 2006. It is a two-year, structure enhancement.

The college is doing well on the sports front as well. The Commonwealth committee, set up by the Delhi Government, has adopted the college for the forthcoming Commonwealth Games and will be re-vamping its sports facilities to inter-toes and the faculty ends up bettering itself each time. Says Jain, "It is not what you teach but how you teach that makes the difference." As many as 15-16 new faculty members were added to the srcc staff room this year, taking the total to 76 with the student-teacher ratio going up to 12:1. The
