this advantage to attract export-oriented manufacturing?

Andhra Pradesh has one of India's greatest natural advantages: a 1,000-kilometre coastline with multiple ports strategically located along major international shipping routes.

Our strategy is to integrate ports with industrial parks, manufacturing clusters, multimodal logistics, warehousing, and dedicated freight connectivity. This significantly reduces logistics costs and improves export competitiveness.

Whether it is electronics, renewable energy equipment, automobiles, food processing or advanced manufacturing, exporters increasingly value reliable logistics as much as policy incentives.

Andhra Pradesh can offer both. As global supply chains continue to diversify, efficient logistics will become a decisive competitive advantage, and we are investing accordingly.

How is Andhra Pradesh integrating technology, AI and digital governance into its industrial ecosystem to improve ease of doing business?

Technology is central to our governance philosophy. We are digitising approvals, reducing physical interfaces, and using technology to deliver predictable and transparent services to investors. Our focus is
