

THE DISTRICTS W

A list of lesser known districts which

DISTRICT: MURSHIDABAD, WEST BENGAL

Known for: Human hair

Value of exports (2025-26): $98 million

Share in India's trade: Accounts for 34% of Indian exports in the category

Share in global trade: Accounts for 34% of global exports

Main competitors: Almost none. India is the world's dominant exporter in the category of human hair exports, mainly used for making wigs

WHICH ARE THE districts which dominate exports in a certain product group? Jamnagar, for instance, accounted for 64% of exports of petro-products in the country in 2025-26 because it is the location of Reliance's refinery. Tiruppur as a textile export hub is well known. But there are a whole clutch of districts which account for the bulk of exports in other categories—ceramics, carpets, and even human hair which are far less known. Using the district exports data we highlight some of the lesser known districts which dominate exports in certain products.

We computed each district's share in total Indian exports in the four-digit, or two-digit trade category (HS code). We also compared the district exports with total global exports for that category from the UN's Comtrade database.

PHOTO BY AFP

DISTRICT: MORBI, GUJARAT

Known for: Ceramic tiles

Value of exports (2025-26): $2 billion

Share in India's trade: Accounts for 96% of Indian exports of ceramics tiles

Share in global trade: Accounts for 14% of global exports

Main competitors: India ranks 3rd in global exports behind Italy and Spain

