

REIMAGINING
PRODUCTION

➤ Data shows refineries are the largest in terms of turnover. Auto ancillaries account for the largest share of companies

➤ Manufacturing is an integral part of India's growth story but it still needs to make the big moves to become even larger

➤ India has not had the luxury of picking just one idea, which is now turning out to be an advantage

➤ India did well when it comes to costs at one point. Over time, its relevance has diminished

➤ India's domestic market throws up infinite possibilities but cracking the code is not easy even in the best of times. Complexities exist given the heterogeneity of the market
