world-class infrastructure. AB Mauri has started production in Pilibhit. Major packaging companies—the kind that make cans for Coke, cold drinks, or milk-based drinks—are also setting up plants in UP.

We have created an umbrella Industrial Development policy with more than 32 sector-specific policies under it—for tourism, textiles, and more—so that companies can pick whichever sector suits them.

Invest UP is attracting a lot of investments into these industrial corridors. States across India are competing to attract the top corporations in the world. Where does UP stand amid this competition?

Investment is coming through Invest UP, and honestly, there is healthy competition among Indian states over which one lands the big global brands. That competition is good as it pushes everyone towards better quality and deals. When CM Yogi's government formed in 2022, we set up nine teams for the Global Investors Summit—a senior minister with a few junior ministers and officials in each—and they travelled to countries like England, France, Sweden, and Germany. We ran roadshows in 17 major countries and 21 major cities worldwide, in 10 major Indian metros, and in all 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh.

Where does the state stand on the $1-trillion economy by 2029-30 target?

This was never just a slogan—we have worked towards
