

ISHA AMBANI

DIRECTOR, RIL, RELIANCE
RETAIL & RELIANCE JIO
INFOCOMM

As With a revenue of ₹3.31 lakh crore in FY25, Reliance Retail is the sector largest by a clear distance. Its presence spans across formats giving it not just deep access to the consumer's wallet but also allowing it to derive synergies in every conceivable way. Leading this high-profile project is Isha Ambani. Through a combination of organic and inorganic growth, Ambani, is still pursuing aggressive growth on a large base. That's just the group's DNA.

JAYASHREE ULLAL

CEO, ARISTA NETWORKS

Who's the richest Indian-origin professional manager? No, it's not Sundar Pichai or Satya Nadella, it's British-American businesswoman Jayashree Ullal, the CEO and Chair of Arista Networks, an American computer networking company. The Hurun India Rich List 2025 pegs Jayshree Ullal's net worth at an impressive ₹50,170 crore. Ullal is crediting with leading Arista Networks to an IPO on the New York Stock Exchange in 2014. Before Arista, she worked across major tech firms and start-ups in both engineering and commercial roles.

JAYANTI KHAN CHAUHAN

VICE CHAIRPERSON, BISLERI
INTERNATIONAL

It has been an interesting phase for Jayanti Khan Chauhan. Vedica, a brand very close to her heart, is the largest Himalayan spring water brand by a distance. It's no different for Bisleri, almost synonymous with the category. Going outside India is strategic and in markets like the UAE, Bisleri has gained momentum, thanks in no small part to the Indian diaspora. It was her decision to bring in Deepika Padukone as the brand ambassador to give the brand that "cool quotient". But it's not all about thirst as she has smartly hopped on to the hydration platform.
