PADMAJA RUPAREL

CO-FOUNDER, INDIAN ANGEL
NETWORK GROUP

Padmaja Ruparel caught the entrepreneurship bug very early in life. A former counsellor, with an MBA degree, she has been interested in India's software space since when it took off. Eventually she set up Indian Angel Network (IAN), India's first group of angel investors, along with friends. Today, IAN has more than 200 companies in its portfolio across seven countries and 17 sectors. Under her guidance, IAN looks to invest in innovative solutions to real problems. She believes firmly that this is the time for India to build deeper value in IP, and that has led her to look at emerging areas in tech where India can build its prowess.

PIA SINGH

CHAIRPERSON, DLF
FOUNDATION

Pia Singh, Chairperson of the DLF Foundation and Director on the board of DLF Ltd, India's largest real estate company, believes that a commitment to equity, empathy, and excellence lies at the heart of a thriving society. She is known for her contributions to the real estate and entertainment industries and her work at the DLF Foundation, which doubled down this year on education and healthcare, environment and social welfare. It provides scholarships to students from the economically weaker sections of society, affordable healthcare, and greening cities.
