PREETI LOBANA

VICE PRESIDENT AND
COUNTRY MANAGER FOR INDIA, GOOGLE INDIA

Preeti Lobana is focussed firmly on the future. These days that has meant a strong embrace of artificial intelligence, which she believes is the transformative development in recent history. She has spent the past decade of her 30-year career at Google, where she most recently served as Vice President of gTech, overseeing Process, Partner and Publisher Operations, and Ads Content & Quality Operations. Before joining Google, she built extensive expertise in the banking and financial services sector through leadership roles at NatWest, American Express, Standard Chartered Bank, among others.

PALLAVI SHROFF

MANAGING PARTNER OF SHARDUL AMARCHAND
MANGALDAS & CO

Pallavi Shroff has been a formidable corporate disputes lawyer for four-and-a-half decades. When Shroff started her practice in 1981, there were hardly any women in the courtrooms. "The acceptance of women was a huge challenge when I started out. It was infuriating but that made me even more determined," says the Managing Partner of Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas & Co. Cut to 2025, and women comprise 51% of staff at SAM & Co. Shroff recently oversaw the firm's management restructuring.
