

PUSHPA BECTOR

SENIOR ED, DLF RETAIL

As India slowly but surely becomes a deeper luxury market, it is apparent that Pushpa Bector will be busier. The Senior ED of DLF Retail (they own DLF Emporio and The Chankaya, both prominent luxury destinations) will need to look at newer markets and yet protect the existing turf. Her big recent wins include developing the DLF Mall of India.

RENUKA RAMNATH

FOUNDER, MD AND CEO,
MULTIPLES ALTERNATE
ASSET MANAGEMENT

Renuka Ramnath has seen and been a part of India's private equity story since its inception. When she founded Multiples Alternate Asset Management in 2009, it was after eight years at ICICI Venture, where she was MD & CEO. It was witness to the emergence of a host of sunrise sectors in India. Once she branched off on her own, she worked on a sector-agnostic strategy with the backing of pension funds from North America and Europe, among others.

RADHIKA GUPTA

MD & CEO,
EDELWEISS MUTUAL FUND

There's no better testament to Radhika Gupta's prowess as a leader than the numbers. Under her guidance, Edelweiss Mutual Fund grew its assets under management (AUM) from `6,500 crore in March 2017 to over `1.6 lakh crore by October 2025. Known for her clarity, conviction and people-first leadership, she views risk as judgement: knowing when to push and when to protect. "In investing and in life, you grow the most when you take informed risks, not blind ones," she says. With fresh backing from WestBridge, she believes the next phase will be the firm's most exciting one yet.
