

ROHINI NILEKANI

CHAIRPERSON, ROHINI NILEKANI
PHILANTHROPIES AND CO-FOUNDER
& DIRECTOR OF EKSTEP

Nilekani topped the EdelGive Hurun India Philanthropy List 2025, earning the title of the country's Most Generous Woman of the Year. And rightly so; her contribution to social causes is exemplary. Nilekani donated ₹204 crore in 2025, supporting various causes. Over the past five years, her cumulative donations have reached ₹763 crore, placing her among India's most impactful philanthropists. Very vocal about prioritising mental health, Rohini Nilekani Philanthropies (RNP) recently co-hosted Manotsava, a national mental health festival in Bengaluru, to spotlight the many dimensions of mental wellbeing.

SANDHYA DEVANATHAN

VP-INDIA, META

Devanathan is a global business leader known for scaling high-growth businesses, building strong teams, and driving product innovation across markets. She joined Meta in 2020 as Vice President, Asia-Pacific Gaming, where she played a key role in strengthening the company's regional strategy. In June this year, she was elevated to Vice President for India and Southeast Asia, taking charge of one of Meta's most dynamic growth regions. Devanathan is also a strong advocate for women in leadership and champions diversity and inclusion in the workplace.

PHOTO BY RAJWANT RAWAT

SANGITA JINDAL

CHAIRPERSON,
JSW FOUNDATION

Sangita Jindal stands at the helm of the JSW Foundation as its chairperson. Guided by her belief in inclusive growth, she has steered the social development arm of the JSW Group toward vulnerable communities by uplifting their quality of life. Her advice to women: "Never ever cow down; and be very proud of yourself," she said in her address to women at JSW on Women's Day. At the Jindal Arts Centre, her passion for art becomes a driving force, nurturing a space where diverse art forms meet and evolve. Jindal's philanthropic footprint touches vocational training programmes and partnerships with institutions.

