

Exports, which contribute 10–11% of revenue, remain a strategic focus for ABB India

THE DOMESTIC PLAY

- 60% of oil and gas produced in India is monitored by ABB systems
- Over 90% of cement companies have an ABB system in operation
- 10 out of 13 operational metros deploy ABB technology
- 65% of cars manufactured in India are painted by ABB robots
- Leading e-commerce companies use ABB medium and low voltage products for data centres global growth themes of electrification, automation, and sustainability,” he says.

The company’s recent performance reflects that alignment. Sharma attributes the December quarter performance partly to improving market conditions after a brief slowdown.

“If you look at the last calendar year, the first three quarters were timid. They were muted because of global uncertainties and some carry-over effects from 2024,” he says. “But we saw in the last quarter that the strength in the market has come back.”

Talking about the strategies behind scaling ABB India, Sharma places strong emphasis on servicing customers effectively. “Our theme and our understanding with all employees is that the customer is our only source of income. So, every day, from morning through evening, whenever we are spending time in the company, we think only of the customers and how to service
