In India's rapidly evolving business environment, a new generation of entrepreneurs is moving beyond traditional business models to develop scalable and future-ready ecosystems. Among them, Dhruva Kumar H P, Founder and CEO of Weddings by Dhruva, is redefining the celebrations industry. The wedding and events industry is still quite fragmented and mainly focused on execution. Dhruva takes a different approach by focusing on scale, structure, and sustainable growth. He specializes in luxury weddings, where attention to detail, customization, and smooth coordination are key. Thanks to his leadership, the company has handled large, high-value weddings that require both creativity and careful planning. This steady success has earned the brand a strong reputation among premium clients who expect the best.

What truly sets Dhruva apart is his ability to think beyond weddings. He has expanded into government and institutional projects, which come with a completely different set of challenges. These projects need strict compliance, coordination with multiple stakeholders, and high accountability. By successfully delivering on these, he has built a strong reputation in both private luxury events and public sector projects, opening up new growth opportunities for the business.

Another key highlight of his journey is his forward-thinking vision. With Event Lab, Dhruva is working towards creating a global platform for the events industry. The goal is to bring together talent, streamline operations, and establish clear industry standards. This shows a shift from just offering services to building a platform-driven business.

At the same time, his focus on technology is driving real change. He is developing app-based solutions to improve vendor management, labour coordination, and overall client experience. These efforts aim to address long-standing industry problems and promote greater transparency and efficiency.

Dhruva Kumar HP's journey reflects a larger shift in Indian entrepreneurship—from simply running businesses to building entire ecosystems. With his mix of luxury execution, large-scale operations, and tech innovation, he is clearly shaping the future of the events industry.

As he says, "We are not part of the industry- we are building the ecosystem that will define it."
