

BT GOLF • KOCHI

Backwaters MEET GOLF

BT Golf teed off a new era in Kochi, where strategy was the name of the game as golfers navigated a layout that rewarded thinkers over heavy hitters

BY SAKSHI BATRA

T

THE AIR WAS crisp with the scent of the Arabian Sea as a thin mist hung over the fairways, but the atmosphere at the CIAL Golf Club was anything but quiet. The rhythmic clubs signalled that BT Golf had officially arrived in Kochi. This wasn't just a tournament; it was a high-octane intersection of corporate ambition and sporting grit, where Kerala's serene backwaters met the sharp focus of India's business elite.

For the first time, BT Golf

teed off in Kochi. This inaugural edition transformed the local landscape into a theatre of competition, drawing industry leaders together for a landmark debut. Strategy was the name of the game as golfers navigated a layout that rewarded thinkers over heavy hitters. The tournament's Double Peoria format added a layer of suspense that lasted until the final hole, ensuring no one could rest on their laurels. Adding to the day's flair, the AU Small Finance Bank Mini Golf experience provided a perfect interlude — a place where serious sport met light-hearted competition.

Adding significant gravitas to the afternoon were the insights shared by the day's chief guests, who connected

