

evolving fashion choices, and a growing desire for up-scale, exclusive attire, the market of luxury menswear in India is witnessing an extraordinary rise. Once a niche segment, it is now thriving, driven by economic growth, changing consumer trends, and increased brand awareness.

According to market research company Euromonitor International, the size of India's men's luxury apparel market (comprising designer outerwear, underwear, nightwear, and swimwear) is expected to grow at a CAGR (compound annual growth rate) of 3.4% to touch $163.1 million by 2028, up from $142.7 million in 2024. The corresponding segment in womenswear is expect-

1. DESTINATION INDIA In November 2023, French luxury group Kering-owned menswear brand Brioni launched its first store in India at New Delhi's upscale The Chanakya mall

2. THE NEW CONSUMER At Ethos, the country's largest retailer of luxury watches with 68 boutiques across the country, nearly 70% sales come from men's watches