

- ❶ Rajiv Memani,
Chairman EY India
with Zarabi
- ❷ Rajan Bharti
Mittal, Vice Chairman
and MD, Bharti
Enterprises
- ❸ Sanjeev Krishan,
Chairman, PwC in India

“IF ANYONE WANTS TO INVEST, COME TO HYDERABAD”

Telangana CM Revanth Reddy’s global ambitions, AI, green energy, and how Hyderabad is positioning itself as a premier business and innovation hub BY RAHUL KANWAL

REVANTH REDDY, Chief Minister of Telangana, discusses his state’s investment success, global ambitions, and economic strategies at Davos. In this exclusive interview with Business Today, he outlines key developments in green energy, AI, and defence investments. Edited excerpts:

I want you to account for what happened from the last time you came to Davos.

So, 14 companies—they have done MoUs (memorandums of understanding) with the Telangana state government. 18 projects are in the pipeline.

Do you feel there is a competition between CBN

(Chandrababu Naidu) and Revanth?

No, no. I don’t want to compete with the neighbouring states. Because Andhra Pradesh is my sibling. Why should I compete with Andhra Pradesh or Maharashtra or Karnataka? I want to compete with New York, Dubai or Singapore.

What is your pitch to global investors? Why come to Telangana?

Hyderabad is the place for business. If anyone wants to earn or invest in business, they should come to Hyderabad, Telangana because it is a tested and proven place. For the last 30 years, we are continuing the key state policies. We are improving our investment policies and the ecosystem

| 99

