“A new income tax code will replace the old one, which has been in operation since 1961 and has had so many additions to it... What this new [Income Tax] Bill is going to do is to simplify it all, make it just straightforward”

dant note. Consensus prevails on every decision in the GST Council. That said, data is released of how if an item under the GST is taxed at a certain rate it will still be lesser than the pre-GST rate and be revenue neutral. You wouldn't be earning more than what you earned before, nor would you be charging more than what you charged before the GST was introduced.

On an average, across the board, goods and service are taxed at 11.23%. What does this simply mean? That goods and services are taxed lesser than what they can be ideally, which is 15.23%. GST has actually reduced the rate below what it was before its introduction.

Q: Are you planning to make the new tax regime so sweet that the entire taxpaying
