

Kumbh showcases spiritual technology – time-tested systems for managing human consciousness at scale. This soft infrastructure is as crucial as physical infrastructure in an era where the biggest threat is mental illness!

Cultural Confidence

In an era of global homogenisation, the Kumbh stands as a testament to cultural authenticity. It's not a museum piece – it's a living, breathing example of tradition adapting to modernity.

Mr Adani visited Prayagraj with his wife Dr. Priti Adani, sons Karan and Jeet Adani, daughter-in-law Paridhi Adani and granddaughter Kaveri and offered prayers. Dr Adani and Paridhi helped in the kitchen to prepare food. The family also served Mahaprasad to devotees.

The mega event is expected to draw around 400 million visitors over 45 days from January 13 to February 26, 2025, including several key dates: January 13 (Paush Purnima Snan), January 15 (Makar Sankranti Snan), January 29 (Mauni Amavasya Snan), February 3 (Basant Panchami Snan), February 12 (Maghi Purnima Snan), and February 26 (Maha Shivratri Snan, the concluding day).

The Kumbh Mela is organised every 12 years in Haridwar, Prayagraj, Ujjain, and Nashik. The Maha Kumbh, held in Prayagraj, is the grandest of them all, occurring once every 144 years. It is acknowledged as the largest religious event in the world, drawing pilgrims from across the globe to bathe in the holy confluence of the Yamuna, Saraswati, and Ganga rivers.

The Adani Group Chairman, Gautam Adani, said that in the vast landscape of human gatherings, nothing quite compares to the Kumbh Mela. "As a company, we have been deeply engaged this year in the Mela – and every single time I have a discussion on this subject, I am humbled by the vision our forefathers had."

In his LinkedIn post, Mr Adani shared, "Every 12 years, a temporary city larger than New York materialises on the banks of sacred rivers. No board meetings. No PowerPoint presentations. No venture capital. Just pure, time-tested Indian jugaad (innovation) backed by centuries of iterative learnings."

He said, "When Harvard Business School studied the Kumbh Mela's logistics, they marvelled at its scale. But, as an Indian, I see something deeper: the world's most successful pop-up megacity isn't just about numbers – it's about eternal principles that we at the Adani Group strive to embrace."

According to him, सेवा साधना है, सेवा प्रार्थना है और सेवा ही परमात्मा है (Service is meditation, service is prayer, and service is God).

He explained how three pillars define the Kumbh leadership:

1. Scale With Soul: When 200 million people gather with dedication, it's a spiritual confluence, creating "spiritual economies of scale." True scale is measured in unity, not metrics.

2. Sustainable Before Sustainability Was Cool: The Kumbh Mela has long practiced circular economy principles. The same river that hosts millions returns to its natural state, teaching us that progress is in how we give back to the earth.

3. Leadership Through Service: The essence of Kumbh leadership lies in serving others, embodying timeless human values.

Key Takeaways for Global Business:

As India aims for a $5 trillion economy, he said the Kumbh Mela offers unique insights:

Inclusive Growth

The Mela welcomes everyone – from sadhus to CEOs, villagers to foreign tourists. It's the ultimate example of what we at Adani call "Growth with Goodness."
