A full field of a hundred-odd golfers turned out in their weekend best and despite a muggy weather, participants shrugged off the conditions to display some scintillating golf on the fairways and greens of the green and well-wooded Tolly course, which regularly hosts tournaments of domestic professional tours.

For those not involved in the actual tournament but keen to get a feel of the game, an entertaining and well-attended golf clinic was held, which has been growing in popularity since it was first introduced in the 2023-2024 edition of BT Golf.

A good mix of new players and first timers participated in the clinic that was divided between the driving range and the putting green. An informal competition was also held, with certificates being handed out to those taking part and making their outing to The Tolly a memorable one. BT
