

Inspiring Young Women Leaders

Aradhana Galgotia, the young and brilliant scion of the Galgotia family. A blend of intellect and charm she inspires the new generation of learners. A passionate Advocate and a Transformative educator she advocates learning as a lifelong experience and the journey of self-learning to be endless. An avid reader, a columnist and author, a keen golfer Aradhana Galgotia is at the helm of driving Organizational Growth through pioneering educational initiatives and promoting Educational Access and Equality. Her illustrious academic journey began with her studies in Political Science at Jesus and Mary College, New Delhi. She went on to pursue an LLM in Intellectual Property at Queen Mary University of London, UK. She is currently pursuing MBA from University of Cambridge. Aradhana is committed to the cause of social upliftment, especially of women from broken homes. She is extremely keen on providing them access to quality education, counselling, and an environment of healthy living and healthy learning at Galgotias. She believes that every woman must get quality education and succeed in her life. A firm believer in work life balance, she is a realist with a speculative mind. Aradhana Galgotia inspires young women leaders through her passion and dedication towards transforming education and has recently featured amongst ET Inspiring Women Leaders

2024.

➔ Congratulations on being featured as ET Inspiring Woman Leader 2024. How does it feel?

Thank you! I am happy to be chosen for the award. It is a great way of recognizing women and women leadership. I think it is the need of the hour especially in our society where women are not given so much visibility. Women have an immense responsibility on their shoulders. Not only are they impacting the lives of the youth but are also directly accountable for it.

➔ What is the present emphasis on education in Galgotia?

Being a passionate educationist we at Galgotias encourage holistic teaching and learning system for intellectual