KEEP THE FOCUS

Sometimes you need an oasis of peace on a noisy campus to concentrate. For those occasions, get this pair of noise-cancelling headphones from Sony. Besides cutting out the din, the pair is comfortable to wear for hours because of its ergonomic design. Plus, it excels during multiple use cases—online classes, listening to lectures/podcasts, video calls for collaboration, and of course, listening to music. The touch controls are a delight to use, and the battery lasts for 40 hours with noise cancellation on.

BALANCED POWER

A capable and lightweight laptop on campus can make life a breeze; add battery life to the mix, and you have a winner. This 15.6-inch OLED laptop from ASUS offers a balance between processing and battery efficiency thanks to its Intel Core Ultra 9 processor and is more than capable of smoothly executing daily tasks. The screen is easy on the eyes, while the Harman Kardon-certified audio system outputs immersive Dolby Atmos sound. Plus, it comes with goodies such as a plethora of ports, a privacy shutter for the webcam, and a backlit keyboard.
