

FARID KHAN STORMING THE FENESTRATION MARKET WITH KOEMMERLING

The dynamic and visionary leader Farid Khan, Director & CEO, profine India (100% owned subsidiary of profine GmbH) has been instrumental in transforming Indian Fenestration Industry by bringing technically advanced window and door systems to the Indian market.

MY JOURNEY

I was a government employee 20 years ago. I took one of the most difficult decisions of my life to quit my government job and explore opportunities in the private sector. Initial stages were quite tough as things were different from the government sector. I took the challenge and got an opportunity to introduce "Koemmerling uPVC windows and doors" which was not so familiar in the industry. I planned, executed and achieved the goals independently, discovering the real me - self-motivated, fearless and risk taking. I have come a long way since then.

APPROACHING CHANGE

Everyone has to deal with the change. Shifting from the government sector to an MNC was a challenging experience. You have to be very competitive, proactive, updated, skillful and self-motivated. I enjoyed being challenged by this change in terms of work, responsibility and ownership. All this helped me in developing qualities like decision making, effective communication, high confidence, commitment and passion, accountability, empathy etc.

THE REAL ME

I believe in a world with human values, where people live for the benefits of each other, and it should be based on respect, dignity, compassion and social responsibility, not just financial help.

QUALITIES OF A SUCCESSFUL LEADER

Clear Vision with directions to achieve goals, Strategy, Decision maker, Empowering the people and backing them with faith and Team Spirit.

Farid Khan is setting up new benchmarks in quality, product development and services for the fenestration market at par with international standards. He has established a strong presence for "Koemmerling" brand in India. In 2017, he ventured into aluminium window and door system and launched "AluPure" brand, which has become a well-known name in the fenestration industry. Aiming to establish India as an export hub for the world, his company has invested hugely in infrastructure, technical advancement, skill development and R&D.

Talking about his approach, he shared his views on varied subjects.

LEADERSHIP STYLE

I believe that things can be done in a better way than before, to achieve organizational goals and it's a continuous process. I also believe that people should be independent to think big, dream big and achieve goals not just for the company but for themselves as well. I am a risk taker who has evolved and surprised many people in a positive way.

3 BIGGEST ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Foreign investment on Indian soil
- Setting up ultra-modern state of the art extrusion facility in India
- Contribution towards society by generating employment

About KOEMMERLING

Leveraging its unparalleled expertise in German technology to make premium quality window and door systems, Profine India Window Technology Private Limited, with its legendary brand Koemmerling, has been instrumental in keeping the standards high in the uPVC window and door system industry.

Being a wholly-owned subsidiary of Profine GmbH, the company uses pioneering techniques and methodologies, invests significantly in in-house research and development to manufacture customized high quality uPVC window and door systems. Koemmerling windows and doors can be ordered with various frame and sash heights and depths, multiple glazing options, flyscreen and are available in multiple lamination options. The product range is further rounded out with window sills, safe roller, and French shutters and multiple locking systems.