Success has not come easy to the Managing Director of Findoc Investmart Private Limited. No wonder that the first-generation entrepreneur and angel investor based out of Ludhiana is as simple and grounded as it gets.

My fascination with numbers and interest in the stock market led me to become a sub-broker with Angel Broking". Gaining experience and understanding the markets, he ventured to launch his own company, Findoc Financial Services in 2012.

Under Hemant's astute guidance, Findoc has emerged as a leading player offering a suite of innovative platforms and services designed to empower customers in managing their wealth, with a significant emphasis on the utilization of "Algo Trading" to streamline and enhance the trading journey.

Findoc's strategic growth is fueled by its arsenal of sophisticated Algo Trading models, robust data analysis tools, and high-frequency trading software, all developed in-house. The company's focus on data is pivotal in strategy development, fostering a culture of innovation that continually seeks new methodologies to stay ahead in a highly competitive market.

Hemant has also diversified into housing with Hampton Homes at Ludhiana to provide affordable housing with luxury amenities to the people of Punjab.
