

CHANDNI KAPADIA & THE ART OF DOING MORE IN ONE LIFE

Excellence is a standard that we set for ourselves. People who push the standards and evolve are the ones that get looked up as icons. Chandni Kapadia however, belongs to a different breed. Her joie de vivre is unmistakable. How else can you explain a woman who has passionately taken up various vocations in her career and excelled in each of them.

CHANDNI KAPADIA

Chandni Kapadia has comprehensively done everything that might be featured across the “to do” lists of ambitious professionals across the world. Her glorious career chart is nothing short of a fairy tale, without the presence of a fairy or the magic wand.

A firm believer of manifestation of one's dreams, Chandni willed herself to work with the iconic Calvin Klein. The determination of the young woman took her from Ahmedabad to New York, where she finally did work for Calvin Klein & then Accessorize. The fashion student had reached her goal.

But Chandni didn't stop there. She reset her goals, challenging herself to realize her true potential. For her, it was a path to self-actualization. Embracing new challenges as exciting opportunities, she greedily absorbed all the learning, to evolve as the Asia Pacific Head or the Country head for various luxury brands. She then moved on to become a valued consultant for them as she has waltzed her way to new empowering roles all her life.

Emphasizing the fact that it was not a bed of roses, Chandni shares her mantra, “When the going gets tough, put one foot in front of the other and just keep going.” She has developed it into her second nature ever since she ventured out on her own to foreign lands as a teenager, seeking an opportunity to learn fashion and gain international experience.

It is this approach to life that has seen Chandni shift gears to learn law and rise up to helm the Gujarat Law Society University as its Executive Director. Today, looking back at her incredible journey, she says, “There is nothing that I probably wouldn't do again. However, there are things that I would do in a different way”. The humility and the willingness to learn and improve shines through in her approach. That too, after she has done it all, including being the National Head for WICCI Design Council.

Chandni says “I crave for challenges that excite me and which give me a sense of satisfaction of having done something good”. And the toughest challenge for her as a leader and an entrepreneur, she says, has been that of being a woman. She says, “There are bound to be times when one tends to feel low or not at their best.” But she has always looked in the face of these challenges and criticisms and faced them head on.

Over the years Chandni has turned herself into a brand, popularly known as “CK”. She has been recognized globally for her work & contribution towards entrepreneurship, fashion and education with numerous awards like World Women Leadership Congress Award, Black Swan Award for Women Empowerment, Leaders of Change award and acknowledged by top magazines like Economic Times, Outlook, Forbes, Business Today and Fortune India.

Chandni feels fortunate to have met many people who believe and support similar causes on empowering people especially women, as she works with many organizations like WICCI India, Rotary and other NGOs. CK quips “It has required a lot of gut, sheer dedication and will for the life I have today, and I would have had it no other way; So for any young mind who seeks to succeed in life, there is no alternative to working hard with dedication and standing your ground. Success will gradually follow.”
