Following it up with a Diploma in Advanced Implant from Zeist in Holland, he was the Master Clinician (Implants) at UCLA, Los Angeles. Progressing further, he went for a Masters in Immediate Loading at the International Implant Foundation, Munich, Germany.

The founder of the Simpladent Clinic, Dr. Gaur is the master in this line, with over 20 years' experience as an Implantologist. More than 20000 plus successful Corticobasal® Implants in patients from all over world. The Corticobasal® Immediate Loading Dental Implants is a ground breaking approach to dental implantology. They are designed to simplify and expedite the implant process while providing outstanding results.

Unlike traditional implant procedures that require multiple surgeries and an extended healing period, Corticobasal® Immediate Loading Dental Implants enable the restoration of teeth within hours after the initial procedure. This rapid restoration not only reduces discomfort and inconvenience but also allows patients to regain their full oral function quickly.

These implants are anchored in the cortical bone, which is denser and more stable than the spongy bone that deteriorates with age. This ensures a secure foundation for the dental implants, even in cases of jawbone loss.

Corticobasal® Immediate Loading Dental Implants are less invasive compared to traditional methods, reducing the risks associated with surgery, especially for older patients who may have underlying health conditions.

Dr. Gaur combines precision, artistry, and cutting-edge technology to provide his patients with unparalleled results. His leadership at Simpladent has solidified the clinic's reputation as a hub for advanced dental solutions, attracting patients from around the world seeking the highest standards of care. He states, "Get your dental implants in 48 hours with state of the art immediate loading technique. This is effective to all age patients and specially old age patients with many health challenges".

A teacher at the International Implant Foundation, Munich, Germany since 2013 and a visiting Consultant Implantologist in various Dental Clinics across India and abroad for Immediate Functional Loading Implant Cases, Dr. Gaur is a Mentor at Courses in Immediate Functional Loading Implantology across globe. A Keynote Speaker in various International & National Conferences, he has authored many publications on this subject.

Dr. Gaur says, "We believe that everyone deserves the opportunity to enjoy a beautiful, functional smile, regardless of their age. Corticobasal® Immediate Loading Dental Implants are the result of our relentless pursuit of innovation to better serve our patients, particularly the older generation". The Corticobasal® Immediate Loading Dental Implant technique minimizes treatment time, resulting in less discomfort and a faster recovery.
