

PHOTO BY MANDAR DEODHAR

BOAT

• AMAN GUPTA (left),
CO-FOUNDER & CHIEF
MARKETING OFFICER
• SAMEER MEHTA,
CO-FOUNDER & CEO

KEY INVESTORS

Warburg Pincus LLC, Malabar Investments and Fireside Ventures

FUNDING

It has raised around $175 million
till date

FINANCIALS

In FY23, the company reported revenue of ₹3,258.4 crore and a loss of ₹101 crore, per the Registrar of Companies

WHAT MAKES IT COOL

This home-grown brand has never lost sight of what the Indian consumer wants

boAt has grown its offerings—from wireless headphones to TWS buds to smartwatches—and has emerged as the world's second-largest wearables brand has also grown its revenues. Imagine, boAt's parent, closed FY23 with revenue of ₹3,258.4 crore and a loss of ₹101 crore, per the Registrar of Companies. In FY22, the company had reported revenue of ₹2,872.90 crore and profit after tax of ₹78.82 crore. There have also been production milestones. "Two years ago, it was 100 per cent not made in India; now, 70 per cent is made in India," says Mehta, a commerce graduate from Mumbai's Narsee Monjee College of Commerce and Economics.

Looking back at boAt's journey, Gupta says the company doesn't consider other Indian brands as competition. "Instead, we are proud about paving the way for Indian entrepreneurship... we are in a space where we are feeding the dreams of a lot of Indians and entrepreneurs to start their own brand. We have shown India that brands can be built, and consumers are ready to accept Indian brands. And we are very proud of our journey as a young brand."

The duo, who have 54 per cent stake in the company, were planning to raise ₹2,000 crore in 2022 via an initial public offering, but have deferred it by a couple of years. Ask the founders why, and they say that the day Indians switch to buying smartwatches instead of traditional ones, boAt will go public. The focus these days is on two things: One, how to raise employee count to 10,000 from the current 6,000 (including indirect hires); and two, hitting the milestone of ₹5,000 crore in sales in another two years.

The founders have set their sights firmly on these twin goals; and boAt is charting its path to the next milestone. BT

@nidhisingal