BETTER MENTAL HEALTH INSURANCE

► Mandate full parity between mental and physical health in insurance coverage, government funding, and employer policies. All insurers must cover psychiatric consultations, medications, and hospital stays under the same terms as physical illnesses. Expand access to public mental health infrastructure, including district-level clinics and tele-counselling services. Invest in training mental health professionals and running awareness campaigns to reduce stigma.

NURTURE DOMESTIC MEDTECH INNOVATION

► Launch a dedicated public-private innovation fund to support early-stage start-ups in medical devices and diagnostics. The fund should provide design mentorship, clinical validation support, regulatory guidance, and matched grants. Priority must be given to affordable, scalable solutions tailored for rural and underserved populations. By nurturing domestic medtech innovation, India can reduce its heavy dependence on imports and create homegrown solutions. This aligns with the Atmanirbhar Bharat mission.

ONE INDIA, ONE TRAUMA CARE GRID

► Establish a national trauma care network with units located along highways, rail corridors, and urban hotspots. This grid should include a centralised emergency helpline, GPS-enabled ambulance systems, trained paramedics, and rapid-response teams. Integration with public health, transport, and disaster management agencies is essential for speedy coordination. With India among countries with highest road accident fatalities, a real-time trauma care system is critical.
