Does the market have the appetite to sustain sales of 1,335 units across primary and secondary markets in 12 months? Investors and high net worth buyers remain optimistic, but experts warn the pace will likely moderate.

One of the biggest reasons for the boom is the phenomenal infrastructure boost of the past few years. This opened up new tracts of land to development, benefitting premium luxury, mid-market and affordable segments. Traditional luxury hubs such as Worli, Bandra West, Tardeo and Prabhadevi have all posted robust sales.

Worli saw sales of 32 units instead of 60 the previous year, but the total consideration was ₹2,400 crore, according to the Sotheby-CRE Matrix report. Bandra West and Tardeo sold more units while Prabhadevi topped in unit sales. Growth rates of 192% (Bandra West) and 254% (Tardeo) testified to the robust demand.

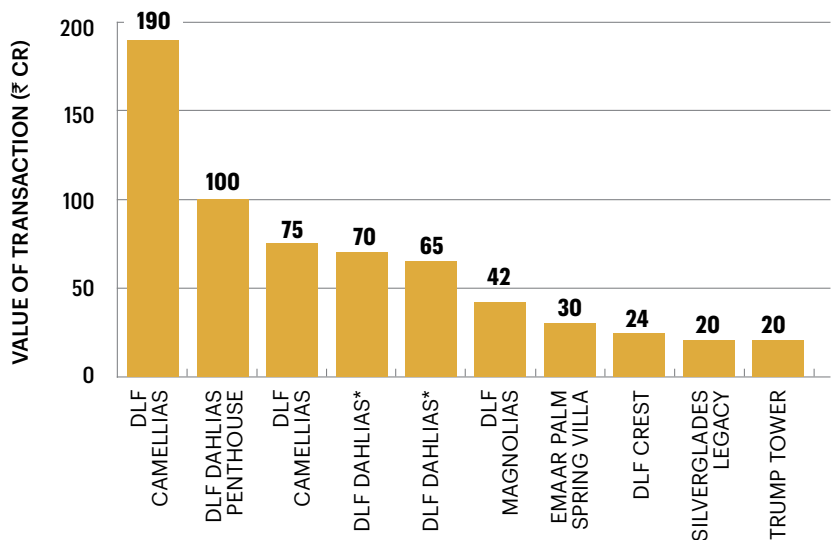

Another regional real estate giant, the Prestige Group from Bengaluru, has also launched a project successfully in Mumbai's luxury market. Zayd Noaman, Executive Director, Chairman's Office, Prestige Group, says luxury is defined in terms of location, product specifications and ticket price. In South Mumbai's Marine Lines, Ocean Towers is a four-bedroom apartment complex designed by sought-after architect Foster Partners. Prices could be upwards of ₹1 lakh per sq ft. In Worli, Prestige's Nautilus project has four-to six-bedroom apartments in the ultra-luxury category with panoramic views of Worli Sea Face from some of the largest sundecks. The property, of 3,500 to 7,500 sq ft, costs ₹1 lakh to ₹1.2 lakh per sq ft. Ticket values range from ₹40-50 crore to ₹80-90 crore per unit.
