

PHOTOS BY HARDIK CHHABRA

“In India, we are leveraging our ecosystem across research and development, manufacturing, and service delivery. We currently employ around 9,000 people in Bengaluru, Pune, Chennai, and Gurugram”

With increasing awareness around preventative care and digital health, we anticipate outperforming the broader market in both segments.

Q: Going forward, what are your plans? What kind of revenue growth mix are you targeting? How is the Indian market performing, and what is on the road map?

A: Our plans are shaped by key healthcare trends in India and globally. These include rising staff burnout, underutilised healthcare data, and the need for strong partnerships to improve outcomes.

In India, we are leveraging our ecosystem across research and development, manufacturing, and service delivery. We currently employ around 9,000
