

India's high growth and strong macros have boosted the banking sector's performance

Banks have historically been the sole mobilisers of household savings

Over the years, NBFCs, have grown significantly in scale

A big threat to banks is migration of deposits to equities, MFs, other investment avenues

