

Murud Janjira Fort

A POLICY FRAMEWORK THAT DRIVES GROWTH

What gives all of this ambition is the Maharashtra Tourism Policy, formalised through a Government Resolution by the Department of Tourism. The policy targets rupees 1 lakh crore in investments by 2030 and aims to generate 18 lakh jobs, making tourism a pillar of the state's larger $1 trillion economy goal for 2030.

The resolution also lays out a clear mandate to develop tourism circuits, promote rural and agro-tourism, and enhance heritage and eco-tourism destinations through public-private partnerships. Perhaps most tellingly, the policy has moved beyond incentivising investors to integrating communities, through initiatives like Tourism Mitra, and through awards for homestay operators and agro-tourism units that are quietly building the backbone of rural tourism across the state.

INVESTING IN RESPONSIBLE TOURISM

The policy doesn't just set targets, it also funds them. Investors in hotels, eco-lodges, agro-tourism and adventure projects can access capital incentives, interest subventions, and SGST reimbursements, with additional rewards for those who build responsibly.

Solar installations, rainwater harvesting, and EV mobility within properties all attract dedicated sustainability incentives, making green development the smarter financial bet, not just the ethical one. Alongside this, a dedicated MICE Bureau is being established to draw marquee national and international events to Maharashtra, with Mumbai, Pune, Nashik, and Nagpur leading the charge.

GOVERNANCE THAT DELIVERS

Building on this governance vision, Maharashtra is now operationalising six Destination Management Organisations (DMOs) across the state, a World Bank-backed initiative under the MahaSTRIDE programme. These DMOs are designed to bring professional destination management to the ground level by integrating local stakeholders, visitor experience, branding, and infrastructure into a single, coordinated framework.

THE ROAD AHEAD

Today, the global travel industry is at an inflexion point. Travellers want meaning alongside comfort. Investors want markets with a long growth runway. Policymakers want models that deliver economic inclusion without ecological destruction. And Maharashtra is building exactly that through a policy framework that puts communities and capital in the same sentence. Maharashtra's sustainable tourism story is no longer a promise, and the early evidence is persuasive.

MAHARASHTRA'S SUSTAINABLE TOURISM STORY IS NO LONGER A PROMISE THE EVIDENCE IS ALREADY PERSUASIVE.

130+ MILLION
DOMESTIC & INTERNATIONAL
VISITORS IN RECENT YEARS

18 LAKH
JOBS BY 2030

Tarkarli Beach