

THE ART OF WEALTH CREATION

Motilal Oswal, MD & CEO, Motilal Oswal Financial Services

» Market veteran Motilal Oswal, who has over four decades of experience on Dalal Street, said he is not worried about volatility, adding it is the nature of the market to go through ups and downs. Despite the recent fall, Oswal pointed out that one-year returns for benchmark indices are still positive. Recalling how he had started his broking business when the Sensex was at 600 levels, he pointed out that the benchmark index has risen to over 77,000 in 37 years

» Oswal said he sees 10-15% earnings growth for India Inc. over the next couple of years, noting that one of the major reasons for the recent correction is because earnings has been muted

DISRUPTORS' MINDSET: CHALLENGES TO OPPORTUNITIES

(From left)

Praveer Sinha, Chairman & Managing Director, Tata Power

Kishor Patil, Co-founder, CEO & MD, KPIT Technologies

Sandeep Kalra, CEO, Persistent Systems

Anand Lakshmanan, Head of Logitech for Business—India

» Speaking on how great leaders embrace change, Sinha recalled the pivotal moment in 2018-19 when Tata Power decided to shift from coal to renewables, saying, "If we didn't change, we'd miss the bus. We just did what we had to do. Now, we're not just surviving—we're thriving"

» Patil spoke of reinvention in times of duress, saying his team faced a choice: continue as they were or bet big on a single sector. They chose the latter, focusing on the automotive industry. "Disruption isn't
