known for its mineral-rich water, is a haven for spa lovers. The 73,000-sq. ft. spa at Séc-he is the latest addition to the numerous spring-fed luxury spas. A day pass for $145 gets you a 15-minute soak in one of the 22 private indoor baths, where the mineral-rich water does a remarkable job of coaxing dead cells from your skin. You can continue your soak in a zero-edge mineral outdoor pool, where you'll also find a waterfall pool, jacuzzi, and daybeds. Choose from aromatherapy showers, salt caves, and sauna spaces. And of course, a massage, starting at $250.

SEAWORLD, SAN DIEGO

Whether you are travelling with family or alone, San Diego's SeaWorld is a must-visit. The park offers up-close experiences with animals; and you are unlikely to forget an orca encounter or a dolphin adventure. Interact with sea lions and admire beluga whales, penguins, and northern sea otters. Book a special educational trip online (spots fill up fast, so book in advance). While the San Diego Zoo is also remarkable—its video was the first-ever on Youtube—SeaWorld has its charm as we don't get to interact with as many marine animals in India. Tickets are priced $122.99 but are now available for $59.99 due to the spring break sale. BT
