

REAL ESTATE

THE BROTHERS LODHA

As the Lodha brothers settle the dispute over who owns the brand, there are some learnings from the episode that played out between the siblings

BY KRISHNA GOPALAN

► FOR INDIAN FAMILY businesses, blood is thicker than water, but only till brand equity enters the room. The Lodha brothers' clash over the family brand name is more than a legal skirmish and provides a glimpse into disputes over legacy.

At the centre of the brand dispute were the Lodha siblings, Abhishek and Abhinandan. Four months after Abhishek and his company, Macrotech, filed a brand infringement suit against Abhinandan and his company, House of Abhinandan Lodha (HoABL), a settlement has been reached. This after Abhishek filed a suit in January, alleging Abhinandan of using the Lodha brand name for its projects in Goa, and Ayodhya among

At the centre of the brand dispute are the Lodha siblings—Abhinandan (left) and Abhishek (right)