

“INDIGO WILL BE A GLOBAL AVIATION GIANT IN 2030”

IndiGo CEO Pieter Elbers talks about steps the airline is taking to join the ranks of the big boys in global aviation

BY RICHA SHARMA

AS INDIGO STRETCHES

its wings to position itself as a global aviation giant, CEO Pieter Elbers speaks about the glide path to global domination while maintaining cost leadership. Edited excerpts:

What is IndiGo's international action plan?

If you look at the decisions over the past two-and-a-half years, first we placed an order for 500 aircraft, the largest single aircraft type order in the world. We have a total of 900 planes yet to be delivered.

The second building block was making sure we

40 |

PHOTO BY HARDIK CHHABRA