fourth quarters of the calendar year. The latest numbers, for January-March 2025, reinforce concerns of a potential crisis in the housing market.

Data shows that home sales in key markets like Bengaluru, Pune, Mumbai and Hyderabad declined by up to 25% in 2024, after growing by healthy double digits the previous year.

According to PropTiger, in the December 2024 quarter, home sales in India's top eight markets—Delhi-National Capital Region (NCR), Mumbai, Pune, Bengaluru, Chennai, Kolkata, Hyderabad and Ahmedabad—tumbled 26% year-on-year to 106,038 units from 143,482 in the corresponding period in 2023.

As a result, overall sales in 2024 tallied 470,899 units, a 9% decline from 514,820 in 2023.

The trend has been acknowledged by most developers, who have cut down on new project launches as a result. In the fourth quarter of 2024, new launches fell 33% and sales declined 26% YoY. In the whole of calendar year 2024, realtors launched 15% fewer units than in 2023 (481,724 units) com-
