Amit Chhabra, Chief Business Officer—General Insurance at the online insurance provider PolicyBazaar, agrees. “One of the biggest trends in health insurance is customisation. These products are now highly modular. Every policy comes with a range of optional riders that allow customers to tailor their policy to their specific needs,” he says.

Here are some of the popular riders available with today’s health insurance policy:

COMBATTING MEDICAL INFLATION

One of the most popular features in modern health plans is the Loyalty or Cumulative Bonus, a built-in way to tackle rising healthcare costs. With this feature, your sum insured automatically increases year after year, even if you have made a claim.

“Some policies allow the coverage to grow up to 10 to 25 times over time—at no additional annual cost. Once you opt for this feature, your coverage increases automatically every year and you don’t need to pay anything extra,” says Chhabra.

For example, ICICI Lombard’s Elevate offers a 100% loyalty bonus every year regardless of claims with the Power Booster rider.

Manipal Cigna’s Sarvah-Uttam policy, with its Gullak Rider, provides 100% additional sum insured annually, up to a cumulative 1,000% of the base sum insured.
