

built upon an unbiased selection of one of four key investment styles—value, growth, quality, and safety,” he explains, adding that the strategy benefitted from identifying a shift towards traditional sectors. “Our investment thesis was further validated by the government’s substantial capex commitment in its Budget announcement,” adds Garg.

The ACE-Multicap scheme of Asit C Mehta Investment Intermediates is the next big gainer on the list. It delivered returns of 112.01% in the past one year and 55.89% CAGR returns in the past two years. Director Prasanna Pathak says the company has devised a scientific investing framework that employs quantitative techniques to mitigate portfolio risk. “Additionally, we use fundamental and qualitative methods through vector-based investing strategies to enhance returns. The composite investment framework helps us in identifying mispriced stocks and hidden investment themes,” he says, adding that identifying a theme at the take-off stage is the key to generating supernormal returns. “We could identify themes like capex-cycle, defence, railways and PSU, which is reflected in the significant out-performance of our schemes.”

Data collated by PMS Bazaar shows that the next two on the list are Green Lantern Capital’s small- and mid-cap focussed Growth Fund, and Samvitti Capital’s multi-cap PMS Active Alpha Multicap schemes, which delivered 109.96% and 109.05%, respectively, in the last one year. “The strategy is to look for changes in earnings tailwinds or perception of earnings over the next four to six quarters. Then we build a basket of such opportunities and review them periodically,” says Prabhakar Kudva, Director and Portfolio Manager at Samvitti Capital.

“The return has been a function of three things—the overall market performance, the overweight stance to mid- and small-caps as well as the stock selection,” Kudva adds that he expects the next couple of years to be decent but not as good as the last year.

The next four on the list are Investsavvy Portfolio Management LLP’s Alpha Fund, Badjate Stock & Shares’ Aggressive scheme, Asit C Mehta Investment Intermediates’ ACE Midcap, and Bonanza Portfolio’s Multicap schemes. (See table ‘Rich Pickings’)

“Identification of business idea and active fund management are two critical aspects of all Bonanza PMS strategies,” says Achin Goel, Vice President at Bonanza Portfolio, adding that its multi-cap strategy is focussed on “GARP—growth at a reasonable price”. He adds that stocks are picked from emerging sectors where it sees immediate growth triggers. “This strategy is risky due to its orientation towards small- and mid-cap stocks and one has to be prepared for bouts of volatility.”

Green Portfolio’s Dividend Yield and Carnelian Asset Management and Advisors’ YnG Strategy round off

| 73

RICH PICKINGS

► Five PMS schemes more than doubled investors’ wealth in the past one year till February 2024

► The returns came amid the ongoing outperformance in the broader market

AMC	Scheme	Category	1-year return (%)	Return since inception (%)	Inception date
• Invasset LLP	Growth Pro Max	Multi-cap	134.95	41.34	Jan 8, '20
• Asit C Mehta Investment Intermediates	ACE-Multicap	Flexi-cap	112.01	24.42	Aug 23, '18
• Green Lantern Capital LLP	Growth Fund	Small- and mid-cap	109.96	25.1	Dec 8, '17
• Samvitti Capital	PMS Active Alpha Multicap	Multi-cap	109.05	43.02	Apr 13, '21
• Investsavvy Portfolio Management LLP	Alpha Fund	Flexi-cap	104.69	52.55	Apr 26, '22
• Badjate Stock & Shares	Aggressive	Small- and mid-cap	96.27	25.98	Jul 8, '21
• Asit C Mehta Investment Intermediates	ACE-Midcap	Mid-cap	95.68	21.49	Dec 29, '17
• Bonanza Portfolio	Multicap	Multi-cap	95.61	27.43	Jul 5, '18
• Green Portfolio	Dividend Yield	Thematic	95.04	38.68	Sep 23, '19
• Carnelian Asset Management and Advisors	YnG Strategy	Multi-cap	94.42	46.31	Jan 26, '22

DATA AS OF FEBRUARY 2024 SOURCE PMS BAZAAR